La Plata Sustainability Dialogue

Thursday, March 12, 2009

5:30–7:30 PM

Durango City Council Chambers 949 E. 2nd Avenue

This event is the first in a series of bi-monthly La Plata Sustainability Dialogues sponsored by the Sustainability Alliance of Southwest Colorado. It will feature a panel discussion with local government representatives from La Plata County, the City of Durango, the Town of Bayfield, the Town of Ignacio, and the Southern Ute Indian Tribe. The presenters will provide updates on sustainability-related initiatives by their respective governments.

The panel discussion will be followed by an open community dialogue focused on ways that governments, community organizations, and individuals can communicate and collaborate to foster common sustainability goals, among them a possible La Plata Sustainability Resource Guide.

Participants include:

- Nancy Andrews, Durango Recycling Coordinator
- Greg Caton, Durango Assistant City Manager
- Peter Diethrich, Southern Ute Indian Tribe Environmental Programs
- Walt Serfoss, La Plata County Sustainability Coordinator
- Sara Wakefield, Ignacio planner
- A representative from Bayfield

Event is open to the public. All are welcome to attend.
