

I have previously sent a notice about the super opportunity we have arranged to have a “just for the League” tour of the newest, slickest building on the Fort Lewis campus---the geosciences, physics and engineering building now named the Sitter Family Hall. For those who will be joining this tour, below are maps of the campus with the places we will need to find highlighted. Reserved parking has been arranged for us in the marked lot near the Student Union building. There is about a 5 minute walk from there to the Sitter Family Hall, and there will be a golf cart available to shuttle any one wanting assistance for this. We will meet in the courtyard of the building to start our tours, then after will go to a meeting with college administrators to hear about fiscal issues that almost cancelled the new building as well as the future funding for higher ed. in Colorado. After all this stimulating conversation, any one who wishes can go back to the Student Union building to get his or her lunch and there will be a room reserved for us. After lunch, we will be close to the parking lot to get back to the cars. If you can arrange to car pool with others, that is always good when parking is at a premium, like this.

There have been quite a few people who have contacted me to say they will be here for this. The response is for planning purposes for the guides, parking spots, etc., and we appreciate your letting us know what you plan. However, if you find at the last minute that you can join the tour, please do, as we have no limit on numbers.

If you have any questions, please let me know. If I can't answer them, our partners up at the college are wonderfully helpful, and will quickly get us all answers. See you there—
